

Charles Morgan, Novelist, to Be Campus Visitor

Mrs. Morgan, also Writer, Will Accompany Husband Here for Conference.

To Give Group of Lectures

Students Will Have Opportunities to Meet Writers and Discuss Various Problems.

Charles Morgan, novelist and dramatic critic, will be on the campus here the week of April 26, to lecture and to talk with students individually and in groups, Miss Blanche Dow, chairman of the committee on entertainments, announced this week.

Mr. Morgan will come here from an engagement at the University of Louisville. Mrs. Morgan will be with him.

He will offer a group of lectures under the general title, "A Preface to the Future," which will include such subjects as "The Values of Imagination and Reason," "The Values of Equality and Privilege," "The Stream of History," and "A Citizen of What World?"

His recent works include "The Voyage," a novel which was immediately reported on the "best seller" list when it was published in October, 1940 and "The Empty Room," a short novel.

Mr. Morgan received the Femina-Vie Heuresse Prize in 1930 for his book, "Portrait in a Mirror," 1929; the Hawthorne Prize in 1933 after publication of "The Fountain," 1932; "Sparkbrook" appeared in 1938. Apart from his novels he has written "Epitaph on Grace Moore" and a play, "The Flashing Stream," which ran for six months in London, and, but for the war beginning in September, 1939, would have appeared in other cities in Europe.

Mr. Morgan's works have appeared in fourteen languages and he has particular renown in France, where he received the Legion of Honour and has been invited to lecture at the Sorbonne. In England he is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature.

Educated from boyhood as a naval officer, Mr. Morgan served in the Atlantic and the China fleets of England. In 1913 he left the Navy to become a writer, but in the first days of August, 1914, he rejoined and served throughout the great war. In 1919 he went to Oxford, where he took honors in modern history and was president of the Oxford University Dramatic Society. In 1921 he joined the editorial staff of "The Times" of London and from 1926 until the outbreak of the present war he was principal dramatic critic of that paper.

Plans for the days he will spend here on the campus will be announced later.

Summer Bulletins Announce Classes

Students May Make Twenty Hours College Credit After April 27.

"Announcements and Schedule of Classes—1942," bulletin of the College, is now ready for distribution. Some copies have already gone into the mail.

The bulletin announces the spring short course, April 27 to May 28; the summer school, June 2 to August 6, divided into the First Half-Term, June 2 to July 3, and the Second Half-Term, July 4 to August 6; and the Intercession, August 6 to September 2.

The bulletin discloses the fact that between April 27 and September 2 it is possible for a student to make 20 hours of college credit. It also discloses the fact that if a student needs but 5 hours of credit, he has four ways in which he may make those 5 hours: he may attend the spring short course, the first half-term, the second half-term, or the intercession.

The bulletin also announces primary and secondary courses in Civilian Pilot Training, which are open to men students of the College without additional fees or costs. Persons desiring acceptance for these courses are told to write in advance to Mr. J. Norvel Saylor at the College.

President Lamkin on Senior Day called attention to the fact that a student who wishes to qualify for Civilian Pilot Training to begin in September will have an opportunity to make during the summer the required 15 hours of college credit necessary for admission to the OPT primary course.

This bulletin carries the announcement that fees, other than used activity fees, will be refunded to men called into armed services of the United States before having an opportunity to complete a quarter's work.

If I Were a Young Fellow Expecting to Enter College This Summer or This Fall

"If I were a young fellow of 17, 18, or 19, I don't know where I'd get a better deal," said Mr. Eugene Klempell of the department of Social Science as he told the young high school seniors on Senior Day about the V-1 Collegiate Course of Study approved by the United States Navy.

The "deal" of which Mr. Klempell spoke is this: The United States Navy is willing to allow young men between the ages of 17 and 19 inclusive who are unmarried and who can meet the physical standards for enlisted men to enlist as Apprentice Seamen (V-1) approved college program, and complete two calendar years of college work in an approved college before being called into active service. Under certain conditions, they will be permitted to complete the full four years of work leading to the bachelor's degree.

The opportunities offered by this plan in addition to attainment of two years of academic training or four years and the degree are that it gives the students a chance to qualify for aviation cadet (V-5) training and complete their two years of college work before being transferred to the V-5 program for training for an officer pilot, or to qualify for general deck and engineering duty (V-7) and to complete four years of college work to receive the degree, at the conclusion of which they will be ordered to active duty at Reserve Midshipmen schools where successful completion of the course will lead to commissions as Ensigns. Those who do not pass the comprehensive examinations which are necessary to qualify for V-5 or for V-7 will be called into active service as apprentice seamen at the end of the two years of pre-induction training in the College and will be sent to naval training schools.

It is to be understood that the students attend college upon their own expenses, as they would under ordinary circumstances.

"Young men who are finishing high school this spring should acquaint themselves fully with this program," said Dean J. W. Jones in discussing the opportunities for young men under the Navy's plan. "Furthermore, they should see to it that their parents understand it," he said.

Dean Jones has been placed in charge of the V-1 program at the College and will be glad to talk with prospective students about the matter. He calls special attention to the fact that the comprehensive examination for young men who enter this fall will not be given until 1944—some time during the spring quarter.

Complete details of the program were published in the Northwest Missourian of March 27.

More Than 1,400 High School Seniors Spend Day Here as Guests of College

Student Returns After Pearl Harbor Disaster

Lola Ellen Wessling, former student of the College, who returned from Honolulu not long ago, visited in Maryville recently.

Miss Wessling was in Honolulu at the time of the Pearl Harbor disaster there and for a time was thought by her parents to be among the missing. Miss Wessling, in an interview with a reporter, said that she was unable to get in touch with her parents because of her work in the daytime and because of the black-outs all night which kept her from being able to write to her parents.

Miss Wessling left Honolulu, March 6, when families of defense workers and officers were ordered evacuated. She arrived in the United States March 15. Miss Wessling reported that although she had arrived in this country in a comparatively short time, her baggage had not arrived at the present date. She also stated that one could not find out what ship carried his baggage and consequently would have no way of discovering whether or not it was sunk.

Miss Wessling also reported that although one could purchase almost everything that one has here in America, prices were extremely high in Honolulu. For example, she quoted the price of eggs as being 90c a dozen, while milk is from 25 to 30 cents a quart. However, wages are comparatively high as well.

Miss Wessling was very favorably impressed by Hawaii and she desires to return there after the war.

New Youth Program Will Be Organized

College Cooperates With National Government in Training Men.

Cooperating with the federal government's project of defense training, a new Out-of-School Youth program of education will be organized at the College Friday, April 10, Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, announced today.

Plans for regular meetings will be made at the organization meeting Friday night.

Two NYA Trainees to Do War Work in Connecticut

NYA trainees from the various training centers of Missouri are eligible for employment in war industries in Connecticut providing they are not of draft age and have had 200 hours of shop training. Expenses of the trip are paid by the Government, thus making it possible for any eligible trainee to accept the offer.

Two trainees from here have gone to take up this work: Russell Hobbs and William Dursler. They left a week ago.

What Does It Cost?

To answer one of the questions that a goodly number of high school seniors are asking now—What does it cost to go to college?—the following table is prepared to show the estimated cost of a year in the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville.

The Incidental, Activity, and Book Rental Fee—$20.00 (This takes the place of what in many colleges is called "tuition.")

Board and room, at Residence Hall, $6.00 a week, or if paid in advance for the quarter, $60.00.

Young men may live in town for about the same figure.

Library and Textbook deposits (to be refunded when books are returned in good condition)—$3.00.

Locker fee for student enrolled in physical education, $1.00 (Seventy-five cents is refunded when combination lock is turned in).

A bit of addition shows that the total for the one quarter is $84, including deposits. A bit of subtraction—taking out the deposits—leaves the total at $80.25. Multiply that by 3—the number of quarters in the regular academic year—and the total is only $240.75 for a year of college.

It is the desire of the College to reduce to a minimum, calls for additional expenditure of money after the student has enrolled, hence the incidental fee covers the following items: Incidental expenses of enrollment; one-fourth of the price of a "tower," the College annual; subscription to "The Northwest Missourian," ticket to certain athletic events and other entertainments; limited hospitalization as described in the catalog; the use of a locker; the use of textbooks.

Inclement Weather Keeps Some Students From Being Among Visitors.

Conduct Is Commendable

Tours, Assemblies, Dancing, and Various Activities Keep Young People Busy.

Over fourteen hundred high school seniors were guests of the College last Monday on Senior Day. More than sixteen hundred seniors had accepted the invitation from the College to come to the campus on Senior Day, but because of the unfavorable day some were unable to come.

After having registered upon arriving at the College, the seniors took tours of the campus, buildings, and exhibits with students of the College as their guides. On the tours, the seniors had opportunity to see the exhibits and demonstrations of various departments of the College. Swimming and other sports exhibitions were held at the gymnasium from 9:00 until 10:45 and at this same time travel and athletic pictures were shown in the Horace Mann auditorium.

The morning assembly was held in the main Auditorium at 11 o'clock. "College Education and the War" was the theme of the assembly. Mr. Wilbur Stalcup presided. The college band opened assembly by playing "The Thunderer" and then "Under the Double Eagle" and "Stars and Stripes Forever." Marvin Gensch sang "De Glory Road." Miss Blanche H. Dow, chairman of the foreign language department spoke on "College Women and the War," and Mr. Eugene Klempell on "College Men and the War."

President Lamkin spoke on "Let's Keep Our Feet on the Ground." The Women's Ensemble sang "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," "American Melodies," and "The White Cliffs of Dover." The playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" ended the morning assembly program.

Luncheon was served to the seniors. One case of eggs, 230 pounds of meat, 140 dozen buns and 60 gallons of beans were used. Also used were 140 dozen cookies, 140 dozen ice cream boxes, 12 gallons of pickles and 40 gallons of coffee.

The afternoon began with dancing in Rooms 113 and 114, for which the dance band played. Seniors danced also in the Student Center. Travel pictures were shown in the Horace Mann Auditorium from 1 to 1:45 o'clock and at 2 o'clock the afternoon assembly began.

The College band began the assembly by playing "Goofus" and "Trombone Smear." Ellis Brock gave a humorous reading, "The Crooked Mouth Family." Mary Bruce and Connie Cummitt gave a military tap dance. A piano medley by Warren Durrett was followed by the saxophone quartet. The Women's Ensemble and Dance Club presented war ballads. A dramatic reading "The Least of These" was given by Joyce Fink. "A Little Close Harmony," "Night," and "Oh My Lawd, What Shall I Do?" were sung by the men's quartet. Grace Usher danced and sang "Twenty-one Dollars a Day—Once a Month

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this; our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

WE CANNOT PRINT EVERYTHING

Sometimes a good story reaches the staff of the Northwest Missourian and it is not published. These are days when not everything that comes to the editor's desk can be printed. From the Collegiate Press Review comes this bit of warning—warning which has already reached the office of the Northwest Missourian from the United States Government Office of Censorship. For the information of the readers, the following is submitted:

"Is your College moving its art treasures into a bomb-proof vault for safe-keeping during the war? It's a good story—but don't publish the location of the vault or you may hear from the federal government's office of censorship."

"Are you getting letters occasionally from graduates or former students stationed aboard the United States armed forces? Interesting feature material, certainly, but be careful how you handle it."

"Here, for the special guidance of college editors, is a digest of the office of censorship's Code of Wartime Practices."

"It is essential, the office points out, that certain basic facts be understood from the beginning. The first of these facts is that the outcome of the war is a matter of vital personal concern to the future of every American citizen. The second is that the security of our armed forces and even of our homes and our liberties will be weakened in greater or less degree by every disclosure of information which will help the enemy."

"If every member of every news staff and contributing writer will keep these two facts constantly in mind, and then will follow the dictates of common sense, he will be able to answer for himself many of the questions which might otherwise trouble him. In other words, a maximum of accomplishment will be attained if editors will ask themselves with respect to any given detail, 'Is this information I would like to have if I were the enemy?' and then act accordingly."

"The result of such a process will hardly represent 'business as usual' on the news desks of a country. On the contrary, it will mean some sacrifice of the journalistic enterprise of ordinary times. But it will not mean a news or editorial blackout. It is the hope and expectation of the Office of Censorship that the columns of American publications will remain the freest in the world, and will tell the story of our national successes and shortcomings accurately and in much detail."

"The specific information which newspapers and magazines are asked not to publish except on such information is made available officially, appropriate authority, falls into the following classes:

"Troops—General character and movements of army, navy, marine corps units, their location, identity, or exact composition, equipment, or strength; their destination; routes and schedules. (The request as regards location and general character does not apply to troops in training camps in continental United States, nor to units assigned to domestic police duty.)

"Ships—Location, movements, and identity of naval and merchant vessels of the United States in any waters, and of nations opposing the Axis powers, in American waters; or of cargoes; the location of enemy naval or merchant vessels in or near American waters; the assembly, departure, arrival of transports or convoys; the existence of mine fields other harbor defense; the number, size, character, and location of ships in construction, or advance information as to the location of launchings or commissionings; the physical set or technical details of shipyards.

"Planes—The disposition, movements, and strength of army and navy air units.

"Fortifications—The location of forts and other fortifications; the location of coast-defense emplacements, or anti-aircraft guns; their nature and number; location of bomb targets; location of camouflaged objects.

"Production—Specific information about war contracts; nature and supplies of strategic and critical materials available; information about sites and factories which would aid sabotage; information about new or secret military designs, or factory designs for war production.

"Weather—Weather forecasts, other than officially issued by Weather Bureau.

"Photographs and Maps—Photographs conveying the information specified in this summary, unless officially approved for publication. Care should be exercised in publishing any photos so as not to reveal unit identifications through insignia or ornaments, etc.

"Information disclosing the new location of national archives, art treasures, and so on, which have been moved for keeping, is not to be published."

From the Dean

The 1942 high school senior day has passed into history. Several hundred high school pupils visited our campus and were made welcome by the combined efforts of our students and faculty. These young people established a record of conduct on this campus that will long stand as a credit to the high schools and homes from which they came. We are all proud of these young people and shall look forward with pleasure to having them with us again.

Yours For Health

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES

For the past three months a "Help Yourself to Health Campaign" has been a project of the Home Economics, Health, and Physical Education departments. You have read a series of articles in this column written by members of these departments. A series of posters, following the general theme of each article, has appeared on bulletin boards all buildings on the campus. During Personal Appraisal Week, in which Health was the chief emphasis this year, you saw evidence of specific health trends by means of a nutrition clinic, posture posters, special speakers from the State Board of Health, and the State Physical Education Meeting.

The efforts put forth to make this program possible will not have been spent in vain if any part of it has made us a little more conscious of our obligation to more healthy living.

We are indeed fortunate to have on our own campus a wide variety of healthful recreational facilities. We list a few of the opportunities that are open to you as a student or a faculty member of this college.

The social calendar is planned by committees both of a general nature and from specific organizations.

The Student Affairs Committee, composed of faculty members, plans such social events for students and faculty together as: teas, receptions, and picnics.

The Student Social Committee, composed of students and a faculty sponsor, plans such social activities as: dances, community sings, victrola concerts, leap weeks.

Each organization is allowed at least two social functions each quarter to be of such nature as the organization desires.

The Department of Physical Education provides a varied program of active recreational facilities, all of which are open to all college students and faculty members.

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to promote a school spirit of loyalty among the women; to encourage participation in healthful recreation; and to interest high school graduates in college by means of Play Days.

Activities made available through W. A. A. are: hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, swimming, tennis, golf, archery, hiking, and a variety of minor sports.

The purposes of the Dance Club are: To fill the need in the college for self expression through the dance; for recreation; and for the gaining of a broader appreciation of the art of the dance.

The purpose of the Sigma Phi Swimming Club is to encourage participation in healthful recreation and to promote swimming on the campus. This club is open to both men and women, thus giving opportunity for co-recreation.

The purpose of the Intramural program for men is to offer wholesome recreation for all men students of the college. It is controlled by the Intramural Commission which in turn is composed of one man from each of the four classes and appointed by the student council.

The "M" Club is an organization composed of men who have won the varsity award in any of the major sports. Besides meeting the playing requirement, he must pass seven and one half hours of regular academic work the quarter preceding and the quarter of participation in any sport.

The Physical Education Department offers to you for your recreation a fully equipped plant consisting of a gymnasium, swimming pool, tennis courts, softball diamonds, a nine hole golf course, playgrounds, football, hockey, and soccer fields, archery, and many other facilities.

There are many other recreational facilities on the campus which could be mentioned if space permitted. For example each department of the College has its own extracurricular organizations which attempt to fill the need of the student in that specific field. There is not time or space to list all of the opportunities that are yours as a student of this college. With such a program as outlined we should all pledge ourselves to more active participation and to healthy living. A healthy person lives most and serves best.

The federal government is spending $5,800,000 on college ROTC units for the year ending June 30, 1943.

Dean W. R. Woolrich of the University of Texas college of engineering estimates Texas defense industries will need 55,000 additional workers in the next few months.

Unwritten Music

There are as many varieties of unwritten music as there are varieties of written music. Unwritten music varies from the bell-like tones of children's laughter to the symphony of the wind in the forest.

The moods of the ocean are melodic. The light, gay laughter of the wavelets as they chase each other on the sands reminds one of children's laughter. The ocean shows this mood only in its gayer moments. At other times one can hear the deep-throated challenge that the ocean hurls at its antagonist, the land. To some this challenge is like the sharp, clear tones of a bugle calling them to battle. To some the remembrance of the beating of the surf on the coral reefs of far away islands in the blue Pacific acts as the siren music that calls them back to the distant shores of the peaceful islands.

The songs of the birds compose some of the sweetest music ever heard. The chirp of the robin on a dewy morning as he looks for his breakfast is one of the most delightful songs heard by man. At evening one hears the quiet chirp of the birds as the sun sinks slowly into the west. On a bright, sunny morning one is often awakened by the sweet music of the feathered choir outside his bedroom windows. The music sung by one's feathered friends is as beautiful as any of the music played in the great music halls of America. There is no singer in the land who can sing as well as a nightingale. When the moon is flooding the earth with silvery light, one can hear the little soloist begin to practice. As he sings, one is carried on the wings of music to the sunnier climes of southern France and Italy. One sees again the marble temples of ancient Rome and Greece and floats again on the peaceful waters of the canals of Venice. One sees again the flowers and remembers the taste of wine he drank beneath the blue Italian skies.

Another kind of unwritten music is the music played by our streams, rivers, and waterfalls. The tinkle of the little brook as it rushes over its rocky bed is music in the ears of the man or woman returning home for the first time in many years. The roar and thunder of the mountain rivers of the West are very beautiful to hear. The thunder of Niagara as it falls with a roar into its gorge is music of the most majestic type.

There is also the music of the wind in the different seasons of the year. The March wind is like a naughty boy as it blows off one's hat and then runs to keep from being caught. He does not stop until he is safely away, and then his voice can be heard in great shrieks of laughter that echo back from the distant hills. Then there is the soft May wind that trips over the grass like a young girl in her first party dress. She touches each flower with loving fingers as she passes and breathes her flower-scented breath over all the surrounding air. Then there is the soft, summer winds which blow in a scented gale from the equator.

There is music in their sound as they whisper all their messages into the ears of the waiting trees. The lonesome autumn wind as it howls through the leafless branches of the sylvan giants makes one wish for home and the warm fire-side. And yet, in spite of its loneliness, there is music in its tones. It is sounding a dirge for the dying leaves and flowers. Lastly, there is the deep-throated music of the winter wind as it blows icy blasts from the Arctic ocean. It comes like Mars, ready and armed for the conflict with the waiting world. It hurls its icy spear in a

Quad Highlights

Coming back to work after the brief Easter holiday was for most Quad men a hard task. With spring at hand, the short respite from studies and routine duties only served to strengthen the monotony. Ralph Strange was unhappy to leave so many good fish back home in the streams and Mayor Jack Padilla hated to leave his native state of Iowa in all her budding splendor. Consolation may be had in the fact that in 8 more weeks many Quad residents will be free for the summer.

Seniors who visited the Quad on Senior Day were favorably impressed by the pleasant living conditions that residents here have the privilege of experiencing. The dining hall was visited about noon and many of the seniors expressed the desire to linger and sample the food being prepared by the Quad's efficient cooks.

Walter Smith, NYA trainee at the Quad, expects to leave soon for Washington, D. C., with his mother, where they will make their residence.

A new fad has been created by Paul Lynam. Paul has a paper figurine of his home state on the door of his room with his name and his home-town inscribed upon it. John Lanham and Stan Totoratus have followed suit with others preparing to do likewise.

When another reporter was creating this column last fall, mention was made of the eating capacity of the tracksters. The food agreed with the fleet-footed fellows if results are good evidence. Bob Fletcher and David Murphy were largely responsible for the sophomore class victory in the inter-class meet, and John Lanham, Chester Parks, and Ralph Tritsch also showed plenty of power in their respective events.

Fashing arc and yells its battle song in a wild, fierce voice.

There is the music of the little things we never think about. There is the sound of the father's voice as he returns home from his work in the evening. The glad cries of the children, as they run back from their day at school, fills the house with one of the sweetest kinds of music. There is the music of the teapot as it sings on the stove. The cricket tunes his violin on the hearth as the family gaily talk during the supper hour. There is the glad whispering of the horses as the farmer gives them their dose of food. There is the tinkle of the cow-bells in the distance as the cows wind their way through the woods to the dairy. There is the music of the laughter of the little brook that the tired and thirsty traveler comes upon as he walks through the forest. There is the music of the whistle of the train that brings a loved one home from far away. There is the patter of rain that is like sweet music to the ears of the farmer who thinks that his crops will die if rain does not come soon. There is the music of the mother's voice as she quiet a sobbing child.

Another kind of unwritten music is the tone of the storm as it rushes down over the forests and plains. There the lightning flashes its baton and the thunder peals forth like a great orchestra in a crashing chord. At other times the music of the thunder is like a trumpet calling an army to battle. In the sharp peal of nearer thunder can be heard the notes of the bugle calling the regiments of rain, sleet, hail, and snow. The music of the distant thunder is like that of the chariots of the ancient Romans rushing into battle.

Last of all is the sweet music of the church. There are the bells which peal clearly on Sunday morning as they call the congregation to church. At other times they solemnly sob out their dirge for the death of a loved one. There are also the

The Stroller

This column has been quiet for several days while the Stroller was taking a little time off to parade up and down the streets of his home town in his new pastel blue plaid Easter suit. Some said his new suit was a trifle "sissified" for a man, but of course the Stroller really felt dressed up.

Going back through time, the Stroller's thoughts turn to the "Spring Swing" held on April Fool's Day. Over sixty couples braved the evils of the day to attend the dance. Among the couples the Stroller noticed while resting his feet in a corner (sounds as though he took off his feet and put them in the corner, but maybe you understand) were: Bill Bennett and Marian Nunnely, Nelson Meadows and Whiny Stubbs, David Murphy and Betty Dremman, John Seyforth and Betty Jo Thompson, Gordon Overstreet and Mona Alexander, "Bud" Canon and Maxine Fowler, Jr. Lett and Betty White, Gene Yenni and Eleanor Hartness, and Raymond Evans and Jean Hofflin.

Have you noticed the charming smile on the face of "Tiny" Bruce lately? One of the bright freshman boys remarked that she looked just like a Christmas tree all lighted up, whatever that means. Maybe that tall blonde with the crew-cut, who says he now hails from the Army Air Corps, might be responsible for all the sunshine.

Senior Day has come and gone, but the Stroller certainly had a grand time—but then he always has a good time. As one of his "pals" remarked to him recently, "You have a better time than if you had good sense!" Oh well, it's all in a day's work.

The Stroller did do Art "Dream-boy" Schnagel a good turn. Art asked the Stroller to introduce him to a handsome brunette from Pickering. After he met little Maxine (?) and had conducted her on a private tour of the campus, she discovered that she had been left behind by her classmates. Shame on you, Art!

The Stroller thought it was rather queer how all the boys who visited here Monday decided that they were best impressed by the girls' dormitory, while all the girls, on the other hand, were impressed most favorably by the boys' quad. A few favorable comments were given by the students on the benches placed so conveniently for studying, particularly outside the building.

The Stroller is hardly in the mood this week to quarrel with Brother Ploghoff, but he did enjoy the way Mr. Cunningham pronounces Ernest's name. The Stroller was never one to hold grudges, but anyway, he makes it a policy never to fight with anyone unless the person is at least four inches shorter than he is.

Some of the athletes plotted (or would planned be better?) to get a date with one of the Ball-Java Dancing Girls, but later they decided that perhaps they had better not turn into "Stage-Door Johnnies," or maybe they were afraid of being thrown out on their ears!

The Stroller really enjoyed all the major entertainments this year and wishes to present orchids to the committee in charge of such events.

The calendar for the rest of the year looks as though the Stroller will really be kept busy with all of his engagements at the keyhole. Whenever he sees spots before his eyes, they invariably look exactly like a keyhole. Amazing, isn't it?

After hearing Mr. Cunningham working out the details of the guided tours on Senior Day, the Stroller decided he must have had ambitions to be an auctioneer when he was a child.

The Stroller's feeble mind, that sounds too logical, better call it feeble brain, is just about to cease functioning and retire back into its shell for another long winter's snooze until this time next week when the Stroller will be back to take in the Spring Contests. Until then, the Stroller says good-bye with just this one last warning. Don't do anything without first consulting the Stroller. His telephonic number is Keyhole 1234.

Mr. W. W. Cook's insurance class created a bit of juicy gossip for the Stroller's column this week. It seems that Mr. Cook told them to wait at least 15 minutes for him. Twenty minutes passed—and Mr. Cook was not present. The class left behind them the following note on the blackboard: "We wuz hear 20 minits, we have went.—Der Klasse Insurance."

quiet tones of the minister as he reads the Scripture on Sunday mornings, and then there is the glad music of his voice when he receives a convert in the name of the Saviour.

Each type of music seems more beautiful as I hear it. Unlike some of man's written music, it never grows old.

Dance Club Members Give Fifth Recital

Twenty Girls Directed by Miss Carruth Present Varied Program.

The Dance Club presented its fifth annual spring Dance Club Program in the College auditorium on the evening of March 26. The twenty members of the Dance Club under the direction of Miss Winnie Ann Carruth participated in this recital.

The program was divided into seven parts: prologue, compositions based on moods, "Conco 'I Dansa", modern versions of traditional forms such as the minuet, polka, and the waltz, ballads, pre-classic dance forms, and "Andante Cantabile." Excellent examples of interpretative dancing were given by Harriet Harvey who interpreted the Warrior and Helen Johnson who interpreted the Bouncing Ball.

The Women's Ensemble, under the direction of Miss Marian Kerr, joined the Dance Club after the intermission to present the ballads. The ballads were a group of songs from the wars in which the United States has participated.

The Andante Cantabile, which was choreographed by Miss Carruth, was the final dance of the recital. Twelve girls took part in this dance, which was one of the outstanding dances of the program, and was well accepted by the audience.

Miss Carruth, sponsor of the Dance Club, designed the costumes for the program.

At the end of the recital, Miss Carruth was presented flowers by the members of the club.

Colleges Must Provide 300,000 More Engineers

CHICAGO, ILL.—(ACP)—The United States needs 300,000 more engineers and technicians within the next year and it is up to the colleges of the country to help remedy that deficiency, says Dr. Henry T. Heald, president of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

War production efforts and government service needs will demand use of almost 2,000,000 engineers and technicians by June, 1943, Dr. Heald predicts. Actual figures show there are only 300,000 fully trained engineers in the country and possibly another 1,000,000 with training to act as technicians, inspectors, draftsmen, and the like.

Admitting that college cannot meet all actual needs now, Heald suggests four ways in which they can help. The speedup program of graduation is an important contribution, he says, making available some 14,000 engineers at least a month sooner.

Other college contributions, Heald pointed out, would be to bring back into active work those engineering graduates now engaged in other work; to encourage every qualified high school graduate to enter engineering at once; and installation of defense training courses as short time refreshers.

Women, the educator says, will also play an important part in the engineering field. There are many minor jobs—draftsman, inspectors, chemists—that can be filled by women and that may have to be filled by women because of scarcity of qualified men, Heald feels.

National President Visits Local Group

Mrs. Wilma Wilson Sharp Spends Three Days on College Campus.

Mrs. Wilma Wilson Sharp, national president of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, arrived Thursday afternoon for a three-day visit and inspection of the local Phi Phi chapter. Mrs. Sharp's home is in Independence, Missouri. She was a member of the Warrensburg chapter while in college.

Thursday night the actives and pledges entertained her with a dinner at Residence Hall, and afterwards the sponsor of the sorority, Miss Miriam Waggoner, and the patronesses: Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. Mrs. Albert Kuchs, Mrs. Clun Price, Mrs. Charles Bell, and Mrs. F. M. Townsend, accompanied her to the Ball-Java entertainment. Mrs. Sharp later in the evening interviewed the members of the cabinet who are retiring and also those who have been elected for the coming year.

Friday morning was spent in conferences with Miss Lippitt and President Lamkin. Friday night the alumnae will entertain Mrs. Sharp. Saturday morning at 6:00 in the chapter room active initiation will be held for pledges in the presence of Mrs. Sharp and the alumnae chapter. After initiation service a breakfast will be served by the chapter.

All Senior girls were invited to attend, and all prospective home economics students were urged to attend. The tea was held at the Home Management House.

Eighteen Short Courses Added at Pullman, Wash.

PULLMAN, WASH.—(ACP)—To serve the nation at war and the college student in years of uncertainty, the State College of Washington is inaugurating 18 new short courses that can be completed in two years or less.

These courses are designed for high-speed intensified training in fields deemed of greatest immediate value to members of the armed forces and in war-time industrial and community service. The courses will merely supplement and not supplant any existing full-length offerings. Credits earned on the short courses will apply toward a full-length degree program whenever, in less troubled future years, the student can resume his interrupted studies.

The short courses are offered in accounting, agriculture, farm engineering, forestry and range management, broadcasting, chemistry, architectural engineering, civil engineering, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, fine arts (camouflage), home economics, journalism, medical technology, nursing, education, police science, secretarial training and Spanish.

Jimmy Summers, who recently attended the College, now has a Civil Service appointment in the War Department. He has moved to Rock Island, Illinois, and is employed in the Rock Island Arsenal. Mr. Summers was formerly employed at Montgomery Ward and Co. in Kansas City.

Washburn College Now Municipal University

Topeka, Kan. (ACP)—When the citizen of Topeka voted recently to make Washburn college a municipal university, they began a new chapter in the history of a school founded 75 years ago at the close of the Civil war.

Washburn is not only one of the oldest schools in Kansas but it is the last of Congregational origin. During all its 76 years it has existed through the generosity of philanthropists and alumni, and now the city of Topeka is taking Washburn under its wing just when the school has reached the end of its endowment.

Washburn, first known as Lincoln college, now bears the name of one of its earlier benefactors, Ichabod Washburn, whose timely donation made it possible for the college to survive the lean years following the Civil war.

In 1903 a philanthropist gave Washburn college a $50,000 observatory, equipped with one of the best telescopes in the country at the time. But the gift that Dr. P. P. Womer, president of Washburn from 1915 to 1931, likes to tell about is the $100,000 that created the department of American citizenship, believed to be the first of its kind in the United States. Dr. Womer's story began many years ago while he was visiting in the east. It was a stormy night, and he sought refuge in a strange house. It wasn't long before Dr. Womer and the man of the house were fast friends. Both were interested in education, and both were concerned over the effect the World war and the social upheaval which followed would have on American citizenship.

The outcome of Dr. Womer's chance conversation was an outright gift by his new friend of $100,000 for the founding of the American citizenship department at Washburn college. The donor requested that his name be withheld until his death. So it wasn't until 1926 that he became known as George I. Alden, of Worcester, Mass.

Dr. Womer resigned as president of Washburn soon after Alden's gift was received and devoted his time solely to the American citizenship department. He was succeeded by Dr. Philip C. King, president of Washburn now.

Washburn college's changeover to a municipal institution ended the long prerogative of the John Ritchie family to attend without paying tuition.

Back in 1858 Col. John Ritchie gave the school $2,400, part of which was used to purchase the college site. The grateful trustees extended the free tuition privilege to his descendants.

Miss Jane Ritchie was about to claim the right, but entered as a paying student after the change.

Senior Day Notes

Albany Editor Calls
Gene Brown, editor of the Albany High School paper, called Monday, at the office of the Northwest Missourian. With him were several seniors from Albany.

Voris Brown, from the Eagleville High School, and Miss Martha Stuckel, teacher of English there, brought 17 seniors to the College. Mr. Brown and Miss Stuckel are both graduates of the College.

Advises Students to Stay in School
Lawrence Wilson, who is superintendent at Benton, Iowa, brought 8 seniors with him to visit the College. He spoke of having attended recently a meeting in Des Moines, Iowa, in which he heard several army and navy officers stress the importance of young people staying in high school and college until the government called for their service.

"The government needs trained minds to win this war," he said.

Graduate Goes to Navy

Byron Stevenson, a graduate in the class of 1941, brought a group of high school seniors from Bradyville, Iowa, where he is teaching. He reports that he is leaving in two weeks to take training for the Navy. He will go first to Notre Dame.

Would Work on Staff

Ruth Ann Scott, a senior from Ploekett High School, St. Joseph, with Edward Hiner, a member of the faculty from that school, called at the Northwest Missourian office to inquire about the possibility of working on the staff of the paper next year. She plans to attend the College and work toward a major in English.

Mrs. Thelma Pebley, a graduate of the College, brought four seniors from the Strahan, Iowa, high school. Mrs. Pebley is known to many by her maiden name, Thelma Morris, formerly of Stanberry.

A Friendly College

Miss Alberta Wilkerson, a former student of the College, commented upon the friendly attitude of this college. "Bruce (her brother) and I often say that it is the friendliest college we have attended," she said. She also commented upon how inexpensively one can get a college education here. "And the best, too," she added. Miss Wilkerson brought 20 students from Union Star.

Trustworthy Character of Lowell Jones Wins Notice

Lowell Jones, who is at the United States naval air station at Corpus Christi, Texas, has been appointed cadet lieutenant, junior grade. In that capacity he will act as commander of the 2nd platoon, 11th company, cadet regiment.

The St. Joseph News-Press story of his promotion says, "The distinction was won through meritorious performance of regular duties."

Cadet Lieutenant Jones was a student at the College, taking his degree with the class of 1940. His home is at Stewartville.

More Than 1,400 High School Seniors Spend Day Here as Guests

Kimball, of the Navy Recruiting Office in Kansas City, were guests of the College during the day. William Jewell, Conception Abbey, and Tarkio College were also represented on the campus.

The assemblies and other activities were well attended by the visiting seniors. Some of the faculty members have said that Senior Day this year was the best organized of any senior day this college has sponsored.

Many comments were made on how gentlemanlike and ladylike the high school seniors were in their conduct throughout the day.

Mademoiselle Sponsors Women's Essay Contest

"College girls! What kind of world would you like to see after the war—and how do you think it might best be effected?"

The above question is the subject to be used in an essay contest sponsored by Mademoiselle. There will be ten awards of $25 each and in case of a tie duplicate prizes will be awarded.

The editors of Mademoiselle will judge the essays. They must be in not later than midnight, May 1, 1942. All entries postmarked later than that date will be ineligible. The essay must be not more than 1,500 words and not less than 1,000. They will be judged on the excellence of writing, and the merit of the plan outlined.

All entries should be mailed to Mademoiselle, 1 East 57th Street, N. Y. C. The following information should be submitted also: age, class year, and college.

August Rodin's "The Kiss" Exhibited in Display Case

"The Kiss," a copy in plaster of an original piece of sculpture by August Rodin, is now on exhibition in the display case at the head of the main stairway leading from first floor to second of the Administration building. The original, which has figures slightly smaller than life-size is in the Rodin Museum in Paris.

The subject is a difficult one to represent, and Rodin has succeeded admirably in suggesting both the feeling of tenderness and of reverence. Miss Olive DeLuce, head of the Fine Arts department, calls special attention to the piece as an example of fine work by August Rodin, a French sculptor who lived in the 19th and the beginning of the 20th centuries.

RODIN

Marble no more is cold,
Since Rodin made "The Kiss";
Neither is it ever old—
"The Spring" takes care of this!

Shall Teachers Stick?

The Inquiring Reporter raised the question on the campus last week about whether or not teachers should leave their jobs to go into higher-paying jobs. The following editorial from the current issue of School and Community deals with the same subject.

To Stick Or Not To Stick—
That is the question. We as teachers are confronted with this question all over the country. Shall I stay with this job of teaching, or shall I take some other job which the demand of the time is opening up and offering to me? This question will be answered by two methods and, in our opinion, the answer will be right or wrong according to the methods used in arriving at the answer. One method is that of looking at the immediate; the other is that of looking at the ultimate; taking the near view or the far view. In fact these ways of making the decisions constitute the fundamental difference between bad and good people. The one decides on the basis of immediate pleasure; the other on the basis of the far away and more nearly ultimate good.

"If I am loyal to my profession believing that it is vital to the best interests of persons, individually and collectively; that education of the kind that I can give is essential to the well-being of democracy and human welfare; and if I consider the best life to be that which contributes the most of the best, there is little danger of my surrendering my post to the certainty that one less well-trained and less efficient will take my place. However, if I am short sighted, looking at a proffered position which perhaps puts more money in my purse for the present, and if I believe that the pay one gets today for today's work is the final measure of the value of the work, I'll be quitting the profession."

"Truly times like these may serve to purge the profession of those who are teaching simply as a means of securing a subsistence until a chance at a better subsistence arrives. Such purging is all to the good. But teachers have generally an inner evidence of their own fitness. To these who have this evidence let us lend every encouragement to stand by their work.

"We know that these are times to try the souls of men. There are few of us, may there be none among teachers, who are so discouraged as to believe that God has forgotten the world; who even in their bluest hours think that the God of things as they ought to be has surrendered to the God of things as they are, or that the Almighty has turned things over to Beelzebub."

"The best teachers are best because they know their work and its meaning, and by this token they will be loyal to their profession.

"Loyalty to the best is a twin to the highest liberty. Liberty and loyalty may look like opposites, but they appear so only as the left wing is opposite the right. Either without the other is functionless and useless."

One of the few courses in museum apprenticeship offered in the United States is given at the University of Wisconsin.

Max Kirkbride Receives Promotion to Captaincy

Max V. Kirkbride, according to an announcement from Fort Knox, Kentucky, has been promoted from first lieutenant (infantry) in the Armored Force to captain, his appointment effective as of February 1, 1942. Captain Kirkbride is a graduate of the college, a member of the class of 1940.

There is an unusual distinction in this appointment in that Max Kirkbride, at 25, as director of the Clerical Department of the Armored Force School, is the youngest officer ever to head a department in that institution. This department has charge of the training of all administrative specialists for the rapidly expanding Armored Force.

Two Men From College Transfer to Fort Sill

Byron Erman Bird, who is a former student of the College and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Viron E. Bird of Maryville, visited at the College last week. He left Monday morning for Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where he will take a three months' course in officer training.

Lee Barber, an alumnus of the College, also left Monday morning for Ft. Sill after a weekend visit with his parents in Burlington Junction. The boys had been stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C., until recently, when they were transferred to Camp Blanding, Florida. Following their training they will be commissioned as second lieutenants.

"Tom" Carlton Returns From Stay in Iceland

David "Tom" Carlton who left the College to enlist with the United States Marines has been spending a two weeks furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carlton. He went to Iceland at the end of May, 1941, with the first consignment of troops to that island.

He finds the weather there rather disagreeable because of a great deal of cloudy weather. He states that the wind blows constantly and a wind of not more than 40 miles per hour velocity is regarded as a lull. As there is little fertile soil, fishing is the most dependable commercial enterprise. The population is predominantly Scandinavian and Scandinavian forms of dress are observed, particularly among the older people.

Tom has been with the Marines 18 months and is now a corporal. He will go next to San Diego, California.

Whose Hat Is It?

John has lost his hat!
John who?
That's what Mr. Cooper wishes to know. He knows that John frequents Topeka, Kansas—at least the hat came from the Leader Clothing Company of Topeka.

If "John" is in the College—John has his name in his hat—he should call at Mr. Cooper's office, Room 2, and recover his property. It is a good hat.

Northwest Missourian Continues
The closing of the College at noon on Thursday preceding the Easter holiday made it necessary to omit one issue of the Northwest Missourian. With the resumption of classes after the vacation, the staff came back to work and will continue to put out the paper once a week until the end of the spring term. There will be no paper during the summer terms.

State appropriations provide 23.1 per cent of the income of the University of Pittsburgh.

Coach Stalcup's Track Men Will Meet Peru Teachers Here Today

Five Lettermen Will Lead Bearcats in Meet With Nebraska Squad.

New Material Is Promising

Predictions as to Outcome of Meet Are Impossible; Bearcats Are in Fair Shape.

Coach Wilbur Stalcup's track team will make their second appearance for Bearcat track fans this afternoon when the Peru Teachers from Nebraska come here for a dual meet. The first event will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Predictions as to the outcome of this meet are almost impossible, as very little is known of the Peru team. This squad, however, is probably faced with the same difficulty that all colleges must meet at the present time, and it is very probable that the Peru team has been hit by selective service also.

Last year at Peru the Bearcats won the meet by a large margin. Barton, Murphy, Overstreet, Russell, and Schottel all accounted for first places in that meet, and those five will be ready to meet the Peru men this afternoon.

Promising freshmen who will participate in the meet this afternoon are Chester Parks, John Lanham, P. J. Jantz, John Seyforth, and Charles Fletcher.

Bearcats in Dual Meet With Peru

Bearcat enters in tomorrow's dual track meet here starting at 3 p. m., between the State Teachers College and the Peru, Neb., Teacher College were announced today by Coach Wilbur Stalcup. They are:

120-yard high hurdles: Tritsch, Fletcher, Russell, Lanham.

880-yard run: Murphy, Silvy.

Ted Woodward Goes to Army

Ted Woodward, former sports editor of the Northwest Missourian, went to Fort Leavenworth on Monday for induction into the army. He went with 23 others from Salina, Kansas, where he has been visiting his parents.

Pres. Robert L. McLeod, Jr., of Centre college has warned students of the danger of spreading unfounded rumors concerning Centre men in the armed service.

A proposed college of veterinary medicine at the University of California has been deferred until after the close of the war.

Introducing . . .

Elmer Barton

Elmer Barton, who came to Maryville from Benton High School in St. Joseph, is an outstanding member of Coach Wilbur Stalcup's track squad. He is a senior this year.

Barton earned three letters in track at Benton, and was captain of the Benton track team during his senior year. He was city champion two years.

He has lettered three years in track at the college, and has been a valuable dash man during that time. A leg injury last spring cut the season short for him, as well as his possibilities of being high point man of the squad.

Fans may expect Barton to account for a number of points this season, beginning this afternoon with Peru.

Barton was also a member of the Missouri State High School Track Team in the years 1937 and 1938.

Ensign "Bill" Bernau Visits His Alma Mater

Ensign W. G. Bernau, better known to Bearcat football fans of a few years back as "Bill," was in Maryville last week. He is located at Robb Field, Corpus Christi, Texas. Ensign Bernau stopped in Maryville after visiting his parents in Earlham, Iowa, and spent three days here. He was to be back in Corpus Christi on April 2.

When Ensign Bernau returns to Corpus Christi he will enter instructors' school and when he finishes will probably remain at Robb Field as a flight instructor.

Bernau was captain of the Bearcat football squad in the years 1938-39, and was selected as captain of the all-conference team those two years. He earned three letters in track and two in baseball.

After leaving the college he taught in New Mexico, and joined the Air Corps in May, 1941.

Other college men who are now stationed at Corpus Christi are John Tabor, Civil Service Assembly and Repair; Jean Nickel, East Coast Aviation Engineer; Stanley Miller, Lowell Jones, Instrument Squadron; and Lieutenant J. G. Jesse D. Taylor, Instructor, Instrument Squadron.

Jack Salmon Trains at Goodfellow Field, Texas

"I really appreciate getting the school paper and want to keep you informed of my change of address as I move around," writes Jack Salmon. He has just recently gone for basic training to Goodfellow Field at San Angelo, Texas, where he will be eight weeks.

Mr. Salmon says that his C. P. T. training has been a great help to him in going as far as he has, but indicates that he is getting something new from now on.

Joe Baker, another man from the college, was graduated from 42 B at Goodfellow Field, according to Mr. Salmon.

Scenes on the campus which are in the sports limelight at present are those seen above. The first meet of the season, following the inter-class meet held Monday, will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the college track.

The previous games of the tourney were played on March 30, with the Dormitory playing Sue Moore's Varsity Villagers. The Dormitory won with a score of 30-22. Ann McMullen's Varsity Villagers defeated Maxine Hoerman's Varsity Villagers 34-22.

The Class Tournament began April 8, with the Freshman team, captained by Shirley Kline playing the Senior team captained by June Kunkel; a second game will be played between the Freshman team captained by Lillian Botkin and the Juniors captained by Hattie Houpp. The finals of this tourney will be played April 9.

These games will bring the volleyball season to a close. The softball season begins Monday, April 13, under the management of Miss Carolyn Stucker. Every woman who is interested in playing softball is invited to come and enjoy the sport.

Wilbur Heekin, an alumnus of the college, visited last week in Maryville before going into army service. He will leave with a group of selectees from Chicago, where he has been attorney for the last two years for an automobile club.

Drake University Invites College to Enter in Contest

Queen of Drake Relays Is Chosen on Personality, Beauty, Poise, Brains.

The College has been invited to share in the nationwide search for the Queen of the 1942 Drake Relays. Invitations to enter a candidate for Queen have been issued to yearbook editors of all the schools which will participate in the Relays. The thirty-third annual event, which has become known as "America's Athletic Classic," will be held at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, the week-end of April 24 and 25.

The contest is sponsored by the 1942 Quax, Drake university yearbook. The Queen will be chosen on the basis of beauty, intelligence, personality and poise.

The candidates are judged from photographs submitted by the yearbooks of the schools they represent and from information on questionnaires.

A two-day reign complete with parties, receptions, luncheons, parade, the Drake Relays and the Relays dance await the 1942 Queen. Escorts will be furnished by Drake fraternities and the 1942 QUAX beauties will act as her court of honor.

The Queen, the ninth to reign over the Relays, will be to Des Moines April 24 with transportation as well as all expenses while she is in the city paid.

In other years the Queen has come from Northwestern University (twice), Fresno State College in California, the University of Texas (twice), Butler university, the University of Missouri and Coe College in Iowa.

Random Shots

Once again "Tis Spring!" and next week the baseball season opens in all of its glory. People will swarm to all the big stadiums, umpires will dust off the plates, the familiar cry of "Play ball!" will be heard, and another season of the nation's favorite sport will be under way.

Coach Milner will not have a base-ball team this spring, however. Intra-mural games such as softball, horse shoes, boxing, and tennis make up the athletic program for those who are not on the track squad.

Mr. Blumenthal demonstrated his skill with the shot put at the inter-class track meet Monday afternoon. We were not able to obtain the measurements of the distance but it would have provided plenty of competition had he been entered in the event.

The inter-class meet gave us a chance to look over Coach Stalcup's new track material. Charles Fletcher, who was high point man, is a new member of the squad and will bear watching in the meet this afternoon.

Speaking of the baseball season, the Warrensburg Mules seem to be well represented in the baseball camps at present. Sid Silverman is on one of the Yankee farms at Joplin, George Bennington is in a camp in Tennessee, and Herb Connors will return to the Cleveland Indians farm club.

When Peru competes against the Maryville tracksters this afternoon Bearcat followers will have the opportunity to see a team that is one of three teams who have defeated the Bearcats in dual meets in the last nine years. Which, of course, calls for cheers for Coach Wilbur Stalcup who has coached the track squads during that time.
